1982 AMENDMENTS TO ELECTION LAW

During the 1982 session of the Legislature, a number of Election Law bills were signed into law. While these amendments are included in the 1983 Election Law books, we wanted to again bring them to your attention since many of them take effect this month. Please refer to the Election Law statute for further information on these new amendments.

Chapter 82: Amends Sections 5-106, 8-504

Removes the provision of Section 5-106, which formerly denied a right to register and vote to persons committed by court order to mental institutions. The remaining restriction denies voting rights only when the person has actually been adjudicated to be incompetent. This change, for example, preserves the right of a person committed for mental evaluation but not yet adjudged incompetent.

Chapter 147: Amends Section 5-304

Clarifies the previously ambiguous status of Section 5-304 as to whether a voter could file a change of enrollment between the close of central registration and the opening of local registration at the election district polling place. This change does not become effective until the enrollment box is opened on the first Tuesday following the general election. Voters may now file in this period.

Chapter 151: Amends Section 4-100

Provides that election districts shall not be partly within and partly without a county legislative district in addition to the existing requirement of not being partly within and partly without a ward, town, city or village having five thousand or more inhabitants or partly within and partly without an assembly, senatorial or congressional district.

Chapter 156: Amends Section 15-118

Provides that Section 15-118 be amended to require the village clerk to furnish to the village election inspectors a list of persons who shall have applied for absentee ballots in the village election.

Chapter 178: Amends Sections 8-408, 11-300, 11-302, 11-304

Gives a legal right to vote by special absentee ballot to an election inspector or poll clerk working on election day in an election district other than his or her own even though it may be in the same county. It gives the same right to employees of the Board of Elections.

In 1978 a procedure was provided by law for a person having religious scruples against voting in a building used for religious purposes to vote by a special ballot at the County Board of Elections. This procedure was set up in Section 8-408 of the Election Law. The new chapter repeals Section 8-408 and reenacts its substance in Section 11-300 in the new Chapter 178 along with new Section 11-302 concerning special ballots for election employees.

Chapter 216: Amends Section 15-120

Allows receipt of absentee ballots by the village clerk until the polls close in village elections. This changes the present requirement that such ballots be received on the day prior to the election.

Chapter 224: Amends Section 6-146

Provides that a person nominated for a public office at a primary "without designation" (a write-in candidate) must accept or decline within five days of the day upon which notification of his nomination is mailed to him. The present provision allows a non-party member to decline a non-judicial nomination but a person was not allowed to decline a write-in nomination tendered by the members of his own party. It further fixes the specific time limit for declining or accepting and ties it into the dates of mailing the Board's notice rather than the date of its receipt by the candidate. The new provision now also requires affirmative acceptance of a write-in nomination of his own party.

Chapter 226:

Amends Section 6-120(3) of the Election Law so that it clearly expresses the consequences of a party rule delegating power to grant so-called "Wilson-Pakula" law authorizations to some other party committees rather than the committeeman specifically elected within the political subdivision pertaining to the office being considered. The new law grants exclusive power to the committee to which the power is delegated and supercedes the power of the committeeman in the political subdivision itself. (Certain offices in New York City are not affected by the change)

Chapter 347:

Amends Section 5-212 of the Election Law so that it will no longer be necessary for County Boards to send a board of central registration to a veteran's hospital located in such county. If, in the alternative, such board furnishes the hospital with sufficient mail registration forms to register the inmates and patients, the board shall be required to forward immediately to the correct county all registrations received from such inmates and patients who reside in other counties.

Chapter 352: Amends Section 6-108(1)

Clarifies the procedures for making party nominations for town and village offices. It repeals Section 6-103(2) which allowed county committees to make town nominations where no primary petitions had been circulated. It limits county committee rules to a choice between a primary or a caucus option for making town nominations. No longer may a county committee, by rule, keep to itself or its executive committee the power to make town nominations. A caucus system in the county rules may be changed to a primary system by the committeemen representing a particular town so long as the change is made at least four months before a primary. If the rules of a county committee do not specify whether a primary system or caucus system shall be followed, nominations may be made according to existing practice in the town.

Chapter 514: Amends Sections 8-412, 10-112, 10-114, 11-110, 11-212

Permits county boards of election to count absentee ballots received as late as seven days after the election if they are postmarked not later than the day before election day (effective December 31, 1982)

Chapter 647:

Adopts the wording "ballot proposal" in place of a collection of terms such as "constitutional amendment, proposition, referendum or other questions" when dealing with handling a referendum type matter, publishing notices concerning it, etc. A change in Section 7-110 sets forth the correct introductory wording for the proposals as they are to be placed on the machine or ballot. (Effective January 1, 1983)

Chapter 682: Amends Sections 4-104, 4-118, 4-119, 4-120, 5-712

Provides that where a board publishes a list of polling places it must specify those which are inaccessible to handicapped voters. It also provides further instructions with regard to mail check cards. (Effective December 1, 1982)

Chapter 693: Amends Section 4-100

Provides that election district boundary changes shall take effect on January 1st, except that such changes will not effect village elections held before March 31 and further, that changes, effective immediately, shall be made when political subdivisions are changed after January 1st, such as through reapportionment (Effective December 1, 1982)

Chapter 694: Amends Section 17-108

Provides that anyone who, without authorization, willfully destroys, alters or damages a registration by mail form is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Chapter 701: Amends Section 7-116

Provides that on a primary ballot for party position, the position of State Committee member shall precede and not follow that of district leader and that a County Committee member shall precede a convention delegate, also reversing the present prescribed order. It further provides for rotation of names on primary ballots in New York City only for certain party positions.

Chapter 702: Amends Sections 5-612, 15-108, 15-118

Provides that the Board of Elections must give the village clerk either an updated registration list or a loan of the buff cards in locked ledgers 12 days before a village election. It clarifies eligibility as to who may sign designating and nominating petitions for village elections. It provides that registration day shall be the 10th day before a village election and that anyone registered at least 14 days before the village election may vote. If there is a second registration day in a given village, it shall be held on the 12th day before the election.

Chapter 703: Amends Section 6-158

Provides a specific deadline for filing a certificate to fill a vacancy in a designation for primary or nomination for a general election when the vacancy is caused by death of the candidate or his disqualification. Such certificate must be filed within ten days after the death or disqualification or 4 days before the election, whichever is earlier.

Chapter 737: Amends Section 4-104

Provides that, where a body authorized to select polling places chooses a public school building, the board or agency controlling the building must make facilities available therein as close to the entrance as possible.

Chapter 824: Amends Section 5-712

Requires the check cards, beginning in 1983, to be sent between 40 and 45 days before the first day for local registration. The hours of the next primary must be stated in the notice along with those for the general election and local registration days as now required. Every voter registered at local registration must be sent a card with this information within one week after local registration, omitting the primary information. The Board may add such other information to the card as it feels helpful and useful.

SPECIAL COUNSEL'S OFFICE COMPLETES BUSY ELECTION YEAR CASES

Special Counsel to the State Board, Thomas P. Zolezzi, has reported that a significant number of election law cases were processed and heard in State Supreme, Appellate Division and Court of Appeals Courts during the 1983 election year.

The Counsel's office is responsible for representing the State Board in matters relating to designating and nominating petition hearings and other related election law cases.

In addition to numerous requests for formal and informal opinions rendered by the Counsel's office, a total of 34 cases were heard in the courts, many which progressed through the Appellate level and the Court of Appeals.

Of particular significance to County Boards and candidates as well were three cases that were decided at various levels of the courts:

Ferguson v. Liberal Party and State Board of Elections

In this case the Appellate Division, 3rd Department, held that the Liberal Party could substitute the Democratic candidate for Lt. Governor for the Liberal Party candidate after the Liberal candidate declined the nomination to accept nomination for State Supreme Court Justice. The court held that there was no proof of fraud on the public to make such a substitution.

Corning v. N.Y.S. Board of Elections and Albany County Board of Elections

This Court of Appeals decision upheld the constitutionality of different times for keeping polls open in New York City on Primary Day. The hours in New York City and the suburban counties in Primary elections had been set in the Election Law by the Legislature to be 6:00 A.M. - 9:00 P.M. as compared to Primary polling hours of 12 noon - 9:00 P.M. in upstate counties (except Erie).

Hanna v. State Board of Elections
Lamb v. State Board of Elections
Hulme v. State Board of Elections

All of these cases upheld the principle that the filing of a petition in the wrong Board of Elections is fatal if not forwarded to the proper Board within the time limits of the Election Law. The Lamb case was heard before the Appellate Division, 3rd Department, and the U.S. District Court for the southern district of New York.

EDITORIAL: 1982 Remembered

For most election administrators, officeholders, political candidates and those interested in the political process, 1982 will be long remembered.

To many, if not all, it will surely produce a slight nervous twing to those who remember the surprises, delays and uncertainties that filled this busy election year.

It started quite soon after the year began with Governor Carey's surprise announcement that he would not seek a third term and ended with a new Governor of New York, Mario M. Cuomo, who beat the political odds and the pollsters as well, in both the primary and the general election.

Sandwiched in between these two events were months of uncertainty and delays. Which political calendar would New York's election officials use, would the Legislature finally pass a reapportionment bill and would the courts finally allow one to stand?

For the State and County Boards of Election it was a year in which many can still envision mounds of designating and nominating petitions waiting to be checked and rechecked - some just making the deadline after long hours and overnight sessions which left many weary election administrators with red blurry eyes.

For the candidates, their campaign managers and media consultants, it was the year of the "buck" as millions of dollars were poured into campaign budgets and advertising only to wait nervously on election night to see if it worked.

And finally, the silence of December with everyone wondering, was it really worth it - the delays, the pace and excitement, the dollars and defeat, the weary eyes and tired bones?

Yes, it was - for there are those who understand and believe in our system of government and that as demanding a year as 1982, this system works.

For the less than 50% of those eligible voters who went to the polls, it was worth the demands, the aches and pains, the uncertainties and tension filled hours. For the more than 50% of those eligible who didn't take part in this election, we hope that 1982 will only serve to remind them that we do have a system that works.
